

ericglangville.com

Unemployed?

Frustrated? Looking for an edge?

“Searchin’ Safari”: Job Hunting with Corporate Headhunters

Having a good education or experience does not guarantee a quick and easy work search process in today’s competitive job market. Learning to use placement agencies strategically allows you to ‘franchise’ your job search process, exposing you to more (and better) career opportunities than you could find on your own. This seminar will show you how to:

- Determine which agencies are the best fit for your professional goals
- Prepare the right portfolio package to maximize your market exposure
- Conduct effective interviews with placement agency representatives
- Enhance the results of this key work-search partnership

About the Speaker

Eric’s reputation as a leading transition expert and workshop facilitator comes from having spoken to over twenty thousand people in the last twelve years. His informative and entertaining seminars are designed to maximize the opportunities available through some of life’s most significant transitions, and he is a regular guest speaker at some of the country’s top universities and private associations.

Registration

Date: Saturday, February 26th
Time: 10:00am – 11:00am
Location: Tong Louie Family YMCA
14988 57th Avenue, Surrey
Fee: $25 (Includes all seminar materials.)
Register: Visit or call the YMCA (604.575.9622)

Testimonies from Seminar Participants

“It was fun and very informative. Definitely a useful workshop.”

“Great information. Really got me thinking about my situation.”

“Eric is very engaging, and the use of stories from his own job history is very helpful in making particular points clear.”

“Fabulous speaker. Very informative and well spoken.”

“Amazing! More workshops with Eric please! Best this year so far.”

YMCA
We build strong kids,
strong families, strong communities.